

411.135 Damages in action for wrongful death of minor.

In a wrongful death action in which the decedent was a minor child, the surviving parent, or parents, may recover for loss of affection and companionship that would have been derived from such child during its minority, in addition to all other elements of the damage usually recoverable in a wrongful death action.

History: Created 1968 Ky. Acts ch. 30, sec. 2.