

393.220 Disposition of tangible property during proceeding.

Pending the outcome of an action, the court may make such disposition of the land or tangible personal property involved as it considers best from the standpoints of use, rents, interest and profits. If the use of the property is given to the claimant by the court, he shall be held accountable for returns and profits arising from it if the state is successful in the proceeding.

Effective: October 1, 1942

History: Recodified 1942 Ky. Acts ch. 208, sec. 1, effective October 1, 1942, from Ky. Stat. sec. 1618.