The subpoena must be directed to the sheriff of the county and must be served and returned to the state's attorney in the same manner as subpoenas are served and returned in criminal cases. Each witness must be sworn to testify under oath and to make true answer to all questions which may be propounded to the witness by the state's attorney touching the violation or criminal act. The testimony of every witness must be reduced to writing and must become a part of the coroner's files in the case of a death and of the state's attorney's files in all other cases.
